Bridging the gap

Welcome to the Maldives

Breathe in the cool, salty breeze off the ocean waves.

Escape into the infinite azure waters, pristine white sandy beaches and the diverse culture. Welcome to the Maldives, your dream tropical getaway destination, where the sun awaits to embrace you just as warmly as the Maldivian hospitality. Welcome to paradise, the sunny side of life.

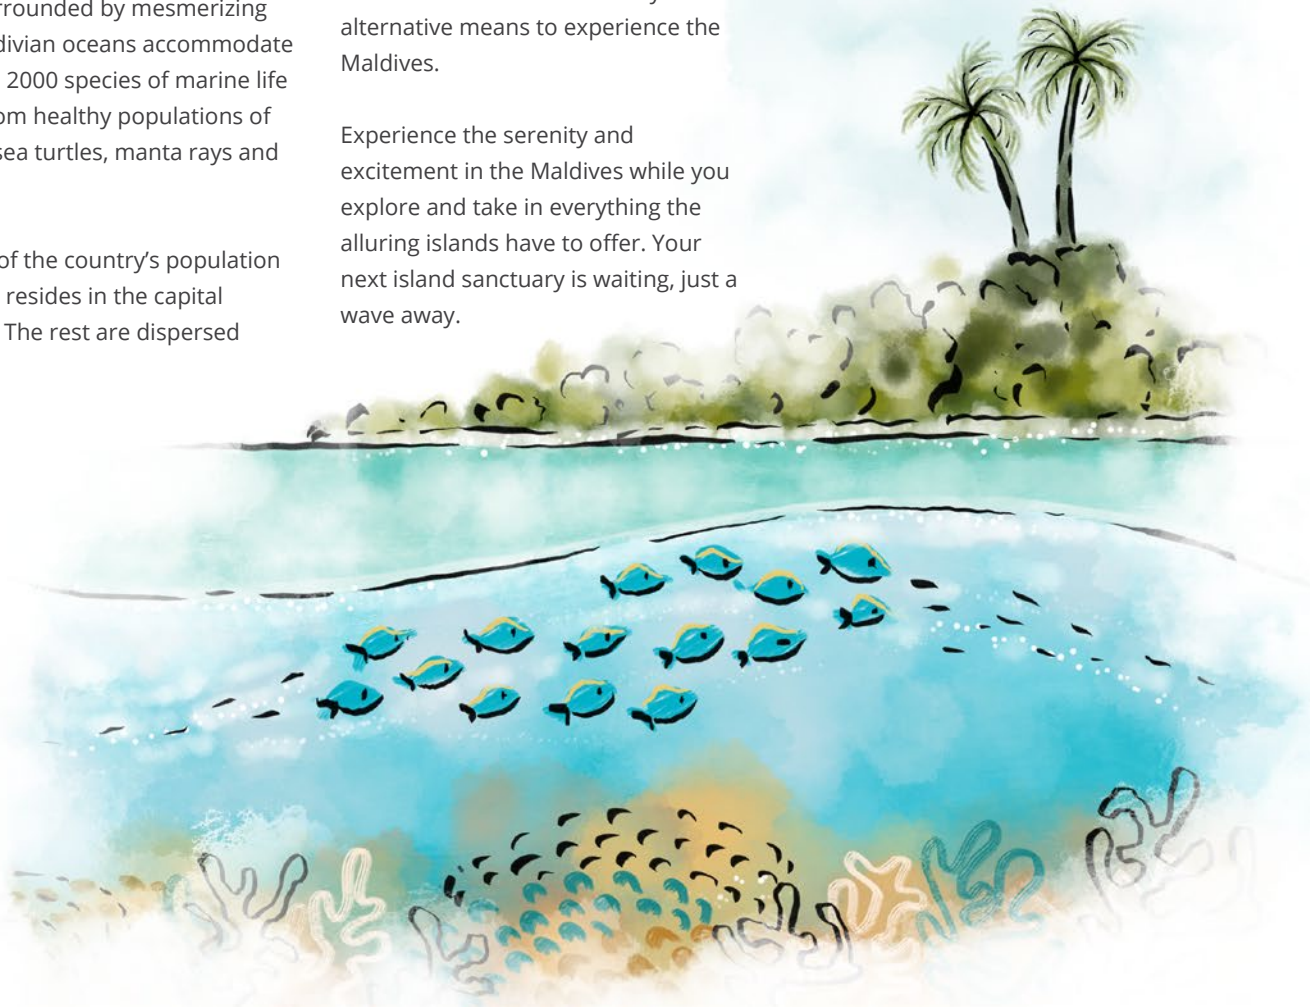

The islands of Maldives, in the heart of the Indian Ocean, form a chain of 26 atolls. Comprising of 1190 coral islands surrounded by mesmerizing reefs, Maldivian oceans accommodate more than 2000 species of marine life ranging from healthy populations of dolphins, sea turtles, manta rays and sharks.

One third of the country's population of 500,000 resides in the capital city, Male'. The rest are dispersed over 188 islands along the length of the country. Maldives being a 100% Muslim country, Islamic customs are practiced throughout the community. Though a vast majority of the country is fluent in English, Dhivehi Language, a native language unique only to the country with various dialects, is the mother tongue of the Maldivians.

The tourism industry which began in 1972 now boasts over 150 resorts, each with their own unique features. Several more are to be opened in the next few years. The introduction of guesthouses in inhabited islands during recent years has opened up a new dimension in the industry and an alternative means to experience the Maldives.

Experience the serenity and excitement in the Maldives while you explore and take in everything the alluring islands have to offer. Your next island sanctuary is waiting, just a wave away.

Male' City

Densely populated, Male' City draws a stark contrast between the peaceful and easygoing island lifestyle. Male' serves a unique brand of past, meeting the future.

One fine example of this spans across the open sea; an impressive bridge which connects Male' to Hulhule', the airport island. Further along, you'll find Hulhumale', once a sandbank, now reclaimed to make an artificial island; the future of the city's commercial, industrial, and housing development.

Home to the oldest mosque in the country, The Old Friday Mosque, or Hukuru Miskiy is a beautiful coral stone construction, with intricate Quranic scripts carved by hand into its walls. A strong, round minaret remains largely unchanged since its construction in 1675. The courtyard of the mosque offers an impressive display of hand carved coral tombstones. Just within the neighbourhood, The Islamic Centre with its white sweeping staircase, and the golden dome, dominates the skyline of Male' and serves as a symbol for the city as the biggest mosque currently in the Maldives.

Adjacent to these exalted mosques, The National Museum houses a diverse collection of artefacts dating back to Maldives' pre-Islamic period. Next door, is The National Library and under the same roof, resides The Art Gallery, where various artists, temporarily display their art. A few steps away, is The Sultan Park; opened on the former grounds of the royal palace after the monarchy gave way to a republic in 1968. The park has seen several renovations over the years, and so, keeps beating new blood into old veins.

Resembling structures from the colonial era, Muleeaage, was built as a palace for Prince Izzuddeen in the early 20th century, and is now the official residence of the President of Maldives. The tomb of Abdul Barakat Yoosuf Al Barbary, the Moroccan religious scholar accredited with bringing Islam to Maldives in 1153 is also located at the eastern end of the building's compound.

The bustling Local Market and Fish Market captures a hectic trade atmosphere. Converse with locals over colourful produce and get to know the fishermen eager to sell their catch, ranging from reef fish to deep sea yellow fin tuna.

Slip away from the routines of the concrete jungle in the contemporary Rasfannu Beach where people gather for a splash in the waters and fun in the sand. Barbecue pits, fishing areas, a jogging track, with swings and showers, make this an all-access, all-inclusive beach to spend the day and enjoy the surreal sunset. Just 1.7kilometres away, catch the mesmerizing sunrise in the aptly named Artificial Beach where the residents seek much needed open space in this lively city.

Fuvahmulah City

Fuvahmulah, the only one-island atoll in Maldives, lying just south of the equator is home to features truly unique to the city. The Tiger Zoo, on the outer waters of Fuvahmulah, has an estimated population of over 200 tiger sharks, and The Common Moorhen (Valikukulhu) a bird native only to Fuvahmulah, are just an ounce of the natural wonders Fuvahmulah beholds.

The Fuvahmulah Thundi, or the miraculous pebble beach, consists of a wide stretch of tiny white pebbles scattered at the northernmost end of the island. The pebble beach is also in perfect harmony with the violent waves at the sudden reef-drop, where the gigantic waves crash relentlessly onto the natural phenomena, the pebble beach.

In the pre-Islamic period, Gemmiskiy was a part of the Buddhist monastery, and was later converted to function as the first mosque after the island's conversion to Islam. It remains the oldest building in the city. Fuvahmulah Havitta in the island is the ruins of a Buddhist Chatiya. The site would have been an important centre of the Buddhist community during pre-Islamic times.

Addu Atoll

Located in the southernmost tip of Maldives, Addu Atoll holds some of the most diverse natural habitats in the country and displays a wide array of lush greenery. With its unique geography, the atoll seamlessly marries nature and development.

Gan, The Airport Island of Addu, was a British naval and airbase from 1941 to 1976 and retains some of the characteristics of the British presence even today. In Hithadhoo you can explore one of the largest wetlands in the country, Eydhigali Kilhi. Protected as a nature reserve, Eydhigali Kilhi is home to several species of birds endemic to Maldives and some specifically to Addu Atoll. The Maldivian pond heron, little egret and white tern can be spotted throughout the year.

South Ari Atoll & Baa Atoll

South Ari Atoll has more resort islands than inhabited islands and offers one of the most exhilarating experiences one can have in the Maldives; swimming with whale sharks and manta rays. These beautiful and gentle giants are found frequently, almost throughout the year in South Ari Atoll.

Baa Atoll, a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve, harbours globally significant biodiversity in its numerous reefs and islands. Hanifaru Bay, one of the most prominent attractions in the atoll is recognised as a high biodiversity marine region with a dynamic water circulation system that attracts endangered megafauna such as whale sharks and manta rays.

Both atolls feature waters that are beaming with incredible reef formations and abundant marine life, providing an unbelievable experience for divers and non-divers alike. It is also a nesting site for hawksbill and green turtles.

Local Cuisine

Due to its geographical setting, the Maldives was an essential port of call for travellers and traders from all over the globe. They brought with them their cultures and their flavors and over centuries, the country's cuisine was shaped. While the Maldives takes pride in its unique traditional fare, many of the dishes are influenced and fused with the flavors and techniques from around the shores of the Indian Ocean. Much of the cuisine of the Maldives offer a familiarity with many of the dishes from countries in East Asia and East Africa and Arabia. Many of the dishes offer a feel of the rich spicy tastes of India and Sri Lanka. Fresh, smoked and dried tuna, grated coconut and coconut mill form the main ingredient of most of the traditional Maldivian dishes.

Traditional local fare is available in many of the restaurants in Male' and the inhabited islands. Resorts offer a range of local and international cuisine in their buffets and an abundant choice of fine international cuisine at their specialty restaurants.

Arts & Crafts

Maldivian arts and crafts have been heavily influenced by the country's environment. Coral carvings and calligraphy that adorn mosques hundreds of years ago, bear witness to the deft skills of Maldivian craftsmen. The intricate designs on mats woven by Maldivian women and the elegant patterns hand carved on Maldivian lacquered pieces demonstrate their creativity. These skills have been passed on through generations and are still practised with hardly any changes to the way they were centuries ago.

The traditional Maldivian dhoni is a piece of art in itself. Its elegant shape and design emerge as planks of coconut wood are bound together under the watchful eyes of craftsman, the master boatbuilder. Although today dhonis are built using imported timber and modern tools, the craft still retains its basic traditional design.

This new extraordinary and lovely island, which has an elliptical shape with a wonderful white sandy beach and a rich vegetation has been recently opened in Baa Atoll. The amusing vegetation seen on this island cannot be found in any other resort in the Maldives. However, the most outstanding and unique feature of this island, besides the fantastic white sandy beach, is the 1600 sq meters large fresh water lake which is built as a biotope in the middle of the island. In this unique lake, with a lot of water lilies and aquatic plants, there is a swimming area without chlorine where you can relax with a calming swim. This Biotope pool is the first of its kind in Asia. This picturesque lake is surrounded by 20 m high mangrove trees on one side and 20 m high palm trees on the other side. This island with its fresh water lake and the rich vegetation is unique in the Maldives. There is no other island like this in the Maldives.

Due to the natural values of the atoll, Baa Atoll was designated as a UNESCO World Biosphere in 2011. One of the best natural attractions include the attractive Hanifarua in Baa Atoll which is an uninhabited island with a natural underwater bay. Seaside Finolhu

Baa Atoll

Distance from Velana Int. Airport: 30 minutes via seaplane

The name Finolhu means sandbank. The resort actually covers four islands, with its long network of beaches stretching out for around one-and-a-half miles – ensuring you won't ever get cabin fever on Finolhu. On the main island, the white sand passages are lined by a wealth of tropical greenery so lush that it creates a feeling of having been transported into a botanical garden. There's never a bad time to experience its beauty, but a walk here at sunrise is especially enchanting. For a desert island adventure, a lazy stroll out along the seemingly never-ending sandbank leads to the Crab Shack, a rustic wooden restaurant reminiscent of a scene from Robinson Crusoe. It's easy to let your mind wander as you lose yourself in the sensual experience of sipping your first coffee of the day while you listen to the waves gently lapping the shore, fill your nostrils with the fresh sea air, watch the dolphins playing in the water, and sit back to take it all in with the sand between your toes.
