WELCOME TO THE MALDIVES

The Maldives is an island nation, covering an area of over 90,000 square kilometres in the Indian Ocean – 99 percent of which is sea, with land being just one percent. With over 1,190 coral islands ringed by a beautiful landscape of reefs, it is the most dispersed country in the world. The complex atoll structures of the Maldives are formed on ridges rising from the ocean.

The over 500,000 population of the Maldives is scattered across 188 islands, with more than one third of it concentrated in capital Malé, making it one of the most densely populated cities in the world.

Its unique geography and breath-taking natural beauty has made the Maldives one of the most sought-after holiday destinations in the world. Of the 1,190 islands, more than 120 have been developed as resorts and are in operation, and at least another 50 are under development.

Despite this rapid socio-economic development aided by a booming tourism industry, the allure of the Maldives is here to stay!

GEOGRAPHY

The Maldives is a nation of islands in the Indian Ocean that spans across the equator. The country comprises 1192 islands that stretch along a length of 871 kilometres. While the country covers an area of approximately 90,000 square kilometres, only 298 square kilometres of that is dry land. The islands are grouped into a double chain of 26 atolls.

The country's unique geography mesmerises the visitor. Reefs that offer bands of color, tiny jewel-like islands rimmed with the whitest of soft sand surrounded by the clearest shallow waters that one can imagine. Only 200 of the islands are inhabited, and a select few on each of the atolls are resorts and some of the islands are used for industry and agriculture.

The beauty of the Maldives is not only above the water. The Maldives is home to about five percent of the planet's reefs that comes with an explosion of color contributed by soft and hard corals that form them. The reefs are home to a thousand species of fish. Lured by the rich nutrients that flow in with the currents, large pelagic fishes such as manta rays and whale sharks also make the Maldives their home.

ATOLLS

The Maldives are formed by 20 natural atolls, along with a few islands and isolated reefs today which form a pattern stretching from 7 degrees 10 North to 0 degrees 45 South. The largest of these atolls is Boduthiladhunmathi, while the atoll containing the most islands is Huvadhu.

All land above the surface in the Maldives is of coralline origin. The atolls of the Maldives form a quite regular chain and, especially in the northern and central atolls, an arrayed structure is apparent. There are broad and deep channels in between some atolls. The origin of the word “atoll” itself is in the language of the Maldives.

	Atolls	20
	Islands	1,900

HAA ALIF ATOLL

Haa Alif Atoll -- officially referred to as Thiladhunmathi Uthuruburi (Northern Thiladhunmathi Atoll) -- is the northernmost administrative division of the Maldives. As the administrative division known as Haa Alif, it includes Ihavandhippolhu, the northernmost natural atoll of the Maldivian archipelago, as well as a section of the larger Thiladhunmathi or Tiladummati Atoll. Thiladhunmathi was divided into its northern and southern divisions on May 21, 1958. The north division was integrated with Ihavandhippolhu forming administratively a new atoll called Haa Alif Atoll or Thiladhunmathi North. North Thiladhunmathi is the third largest atoll in the Maldives in terms of population and land area. The atoll being the north tip of the Maldives, it is the closest to Sri Lanka and India.

SHAVIYANI ATOLL

Miladhunmadulu Uthuruburi Atoll (Northern Miladhunmadulu Atoll) is commonly known by the abbreviated name Shaviyani Atoll. It is an Administrative division of the Maldives. It corresponds to the northern section of the natural Miladhunmadulu Atoll, located in the north of the Maldives.

NOONU ATOLL

Southern Miladhunmadulu Atoll or Noonu is an administrative division of the Maldives corresponding to the southern section of Miladhunmadulu Atoll. The capital is Manadhoo. The channel to the west of this atoll is called Baraveli Kandu. "Baraveli" means hermit crab in the local Dhivehi language.

RAA ATOLL

Northern Maalhosmadulu Atoll or Raa Atoll is an administrative division from the Maldives. The capital is Ungooaaruu. It includes Northern Maalhosmadulu Atoll proper and the island of Alifushi. Alifushi and Etthingili (Powell Islands in the Admiralty Chart) stand on a detached reef of their own with very deep waters (no sounding) between this faru and the northern end of the main atoll.

BAA ATOLL

Baa Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives. Situated on the west of the Maldivian atoll chain, it consists of three separate natural atolls, namely southern Maalhosmadulu Atoll (which is 42 km long and 32 km wide and consists of 9 inhabited islands), the Fasdūtherē Atoll (wedged in between the two Maalhosmadulu Atolls and separated from north Maalhosmasdulu Atoll by Hani Kandu or Moresby Channel) and the smaller natural atoll known as Goifulhafehendhu Atoll (Horsburgh Atoll in the Admiralty charts).

LHAVIYANI ATOLL

Lhaviyani Atoll or Faadhippolhu Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives. The island of Maafilaafushi was resettled in the 1980s in order to relieve the lack of land availability in Malé. The island once served as the capital of the separatist Kingdom of Boduthiladhunmathi. Mohamed Rannabadeyri Thakuru with the help of Adhi Raja of Cannanore attacked Malé and tried to overthrow the Kingdom of Ibrahim Kalaafaanu (Sultan Ibrahim III 1585–1609). However, being unable to take control of the capital Malé, they fled to Faadhippolhu where Mohamed Rannabadeyri controlled the northern atolls of the Maldives until he was overthrown by Sultan Muhammad Imaduddin I (1620–1648)

KAAFU ATOLL

Kaafu Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives. It consists of Kaashidhoo Island, Gahaafaru Atoll, and Malé Atoll (which includes the North Malé Atoll and the South Malé Atoll). It also has a number of uninhabited islands. Malé, capital of the Maldives is naturally located within the North Malé Atoll, but it is not part of the Kaafu administrative division.

ALIFU ALIFU ATOLL

Northern Ari Atoll or Alifu Alifu Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives. It was created on March 1, 1984 combining the northern section of Ari Atoll, the small Rasdhukuramathi Atoll, and the isolated island of Thoddoo. Many of the islands in this atoll have been inhabited since ancient times and have archaeological remains from the Maldivian Buddhist period. Rasdhu Atoll is also known as Ross Atoll in the Admiralty charts. The island of Madhos is geographically the westernmost island of the Atoll (and the second most westerly inhabited island of the Maldives after Maamakunudhoo). Vajrayana Buddhist remains have been found on this island.

ALIFU DHAALU ATOLL

The separation of Ari Atoll (formerly Alifu Atoll) on March 1, 1984, into a Northern and a Southern section formed the two most recent administrative divisions of the Maldives, namely Alifu Alifu Atoll and Alifu Dhaalu Atoll. Alifu Dhaalu Atoll lies south of the line between the channels of Himendhoo Dhekunukandu and Genburugau Kandu. There used to be a beautiful ancient mosque in Fenfushi island having wooden decorated ceilings and lacquer work panels. Buddhist remains, including a stupa, have been found in Ariadhoo Island.

VAAVU ATOLL

Vaavu Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives comprising the natural atolls of Felidhu Atoll and the Vattaru Reef. It is the smallest administrative atoll in terms of population. This atoll is located 40 miles from capital Malé, 90 minutes by speedboat and five hours by dhoni. The Vaavu Atoll administrative division includes two geographical atolls; Felidhu Atoll and the small egg-shaped Vattaru Reef, which has only one little islet, Vattaru and is nine kilometres in diameter. The easternmost geographical point of the Maldives is located at Foththeyo Muli, close to Foththeyo-bodufushi Island.

MEEMU ATOLL

Mulaku Atoll or Meemu Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives. It corresponds to the natural atoll of the same name, also known as Muliak Atoll or 'Mulakatolhu'. There is a mosque of historical value in Kolhufushi Island, but no Buddhist remains have been found on this atoll. Also of historic importance is the 1573 wreck of Kalhuohfummi off the south eastern reef of Kolhuvaariyaafushi island.

FAAFU ATOLL

Northern Nilandhe Atoll, Nilande Atoll North or Faafu Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives. It corresponds to the natural atoll of the same name. Certain islands of this atoll used to be inhabited, like Himithi. The islanders were resettled in other islands so that Friday prayers could be held.

DHAALU ATOLL

Southern Nilandhe Atoll, Nilande Atoll South or Dhaalu Atoll is one of the atolls of the Maldives. It corresponds to the natural atoll of the same name. It stretches 23 kilometres (14 miles) from east to west, and 38 kilometres (24 miles) north to south. The capital island is Kudahuvadhoo, located at the atoll's southern tip.

THAA ATOLL

Kolhumadulu Atoll, known commonly as Thaa Atoll, is an administrative division of the Maldives. It corresponds to the natural atoll of the same name. The ancient name of the island was Kolhumaduva during the time of King Koimala who united all atolls of the Maldives under one Kingdom for the first time.

LAAMU ATOLL

Haddhunmathi Atoll or Laamu Atoll is an administrative division of the Maldives. It corresponds to the natural atoll of the same name. The administrative capital is located on Fonadhoo Island. It is mostly rimmed by barrier reefs, the broadest of which are topped by islands. There are many islands along its eastern and southern boundaries. This atoll is quite regular except for the projection of the reef at its NE corner (Isdhū Muli). It closely resembles Kolhumadulu, its neighbour further north. Owing to its typical atoll shape, it differs in no respect from atolls in the Pacific Ocean, save for its greater size. Its reefs are generally of little breadth, with no signs of vilu (deep pools), except for its eastern fringes which are covered with islands that are quite large by Maldivian standards.

GAAFU ALIFU ATOLL

Northern Huvadhu Atoll or Gaafu Alifu is an administrative division of the Maldives created on February 8, 1962 when Huvadhu Atoll was divided into two districts. Gaafu Alifu corresponds to the northeastern section of this large natural atoll north of the line extending between the channels of Footukandu and Vaarulu Kandu. The capital of this district is Vilingili.

GAAFU DHAALU ATOLL

Southern Huvadhu Atoll or Gaafu Dhaalu is an administrative district of the Maldives formed by the southwestern section of Huvadhu Atoll. It was created on February 8, 1962 when Huvadhu Atoll was divided into two districts. Gaafu Dhaalu corresponds to the Southwestern section of this large natural atoll, south of the line extending between the channels of Footukandu and Vaarulu Kandu. The capital of this region is Thinadhoo (formerly known as Havaru Thinadhu). This district is located about 340 kilometres south of the capital Male'.

GNAVIYANI ATOLL (FUVAHMULAH)

Gnaviyani Atoll is one of the administrative divisions of the Maldives corresponding to the natural atoll, Fuvahmulah. Surface-wise this is the smallest administrative unit in the Maldives, situated in the Equatorial Channel (Addu – Mulah Kandu) between Huvadhu Atoll and Addu Atoll.

ADDU ATOLL

Addu Atoll, previously also known as Seenu Atoll, is the southernmost atoll of the Maldives. Addu Atoll, together with Fuvahmulah, located 52.3 kilometres north of Addu Atoll, extend the Maldives into the Southern Hemisphere. Addu Atoll is located 541 kilometres from Gan Island south of Malé. Administratively, Addu Atoll is the site of Addu City, one of the four cities of Maldives. Addu City is constituted of the inhabited areas of Addu Atoll, namely the natural islands of Hulhudhoo, Maradhoo, Feydhoo, and Hithadhoo. The districts of Addu City are not according to the natural islands that it comprises. In addition to the areas that are included as a part of Addu City, Addu Atoll has a number of uninhabited islands, including the island of Gan, where Gan International Airport is located.

WEATHER

Maldives has a tropical climate, which is warm and sunny throughout the year with little variations in temperature. The temperature varies between 26–32 Degrees Celsius with the hottest being April. Tourist peak season in the Maldives is from December to April when there is little rainfall and low humidity.

The year is divided into two seasons based on the monsoons. The North East Monsoon (Iruvai) lasts from December to April and is marked by very little rainfall, lower humidity, calm seas and constant sunshine. High humidity and heavy rainfall occur during the wet South West Monsoon (Hulhangu), which lasts from May to October. Seas are rougher during this time with potential for strong winds.

GETTING IN AND AROUND

The Maldives is well connected with the rest of the world. Several flights from Europe, Middle East and South East Asia operate to Velana International Airport, the main gateway to the Maldives. The highest international traffic is from Colombo, Sri Lanka, various Indian cities and Dubai, while several scheduled and charter flights bring in passengers from all major European capitals, and South East Asian cities.

Once in the Maldives you can travel to any of the twelve domestic and international airports to which several daily flights are operated. Scheduled ferry services also operate from Male' to most of the atolls.

If you are travelling to a resort, your transfer will most likely be pre-arranged at the time of booking your accommodation. Transfers to resorts around the airport are by speedboat and transfers to resorts and islands further afield are by seaplane.

AIRPORTS

With Maldives being one of the most dispersed nations in the world, air travel plays a major role in the daily lives of the Maldivian people, in addition to being the go-to method of transportation for tourists visiting the country.

The country is home to four international airports and 13 domestic airports; though the Velana International Airport in Male' serves as the main gateway to the Maldives. Once you are in the Maldives, hop on a flight to your island holiday destination. Life is about the journey, and this will likely be the most scenic one in your life.

GASTRONOMY

Tourist establishments in the Maldives offer unforgettable culinary experiences for the discerning foodies. While some resorts and guesthouses offer carefully curated programmes of gastronomic events throughout the year, no matter where you are planning to spend your holiday, be ready to tickle your taste buds with a variety of international and local delights sumptuously spread out at mealtime buffets.

Gastronomy is an essential element of some of the resorts, where attention to detail is crucial. Some of the restaurants in the resorts boast the most authentic experiences that gourmets can enjoy anywhere in the world. Some of the signature dishes offered by the best of the resort restaurants are world renowned.

Standalone specialty restaurants are part of the identity of many of the resorts. Get ready to indulge in authentic favorites dished out by renowned international chefs flown in from around the world. Be it traditional Maldivian or something more international, chefs in the resorts offer a culinary journey for you to enjoy; an experience that is as unforgettable as your holiday in the Maldives.

Maldivian cuisine occupies its own special place in the culinary world. It's a unique fusion that has evolved over centuries of interaction with cuisines from around the Indian Ocean and further afield. Fish and coconut are the essentials in Maldivian cuisine be it sweet or savories. Curries with unique Maldivian twists to savor, sweets made from endemic local produce and 'short eats' that can fill you up on the go are part of the traditional Maldivian cuisine.

Be it a once in a lifetime dining experience in an underwater restaurant, dinner for two in the moonlight, or a frivolous barbeque on the beach, the Maldives has a host of gastronomic delights that would suit every visitor.

ISLAND TOURISM

You do not have to stay in a resort to enjoy the Maldives. Guesthouses on island towns offer a tremendously different experience to that of resorts. Staying in a guesthouse gives you the opportunity to mingle with the local population, experience their lifestyles and get a feel of the local cuisine and culture. There are over 600 registered guesthouses across the 198 inhabited islands in the Maldives.

From tiny little cosy four-bedroom properties to large 50 room hotels, there are various sizes and styles of accommodation to choose from. No matter where you stay the atmosphere is relaxed, friendly and comfortable. You are free to explore the island at your leisure and choose the various activities on offer.

There is a wide range of food options on offer on most of the island, especially those that are well established as guesthouse destinations; from cafes offering local fare which consists of rice and local flatbreads, curries, local sweet and savoury snacks to classy little eateries offering international cuisine.

While some guesthouses may have their own watersports facilities and services, there is a choice of independent watersports and dive centers on most islands. Try out jet skiing, or kite surfing to get that rush of adrenalin, or choose parasailing to enjoy the view of the island or spend an afternoon canoeing around the island.

Excursions to sandbanks, other island towns and uninhabited islands are organised by guesthouses or watersports and excursion centers in the islands. Half-day and full-day excursions often include snorkeling at pristine reefs and barbeque lunches on the beach as part of the excursion packages.

With an abundance of reefs, the Maldives offers the best options for diving both for beginners and seasoned divers. Each guesthouse island would have well known dive sites on their daily dive excursion menus. Well-equipped dive centers in the islands organise day and night dives for beginners as well as advanced divers.

The beach is one of the key elements during any holiday in the Maldives. Not surprisingly all the islands have wonderful beaches that you can enjoy. Many have sections of the beach exclusively reserved for holidaymakers.

Guesthouse islands come in various sizes and some have their very own specialties. Some are quieter than others with just a couple of guesthouse properties. Some islands boast exquisite sandbanks while others may have mantas and whale sharks frequenting the waters nearby. Other islands may offer you the chance to experience nature reserves, mangroves or other features that are distinctly unique to those specific atolls or islands.

EVENTS & FESTIVALS

National festivals are crucial because they are the times when a country experiences and reflects the pinnacle of patriotism in a peaceful and unifying manner. During this period, you may learn a lot about the particular country's history. Festivals in the Maldives exude the country's culture, tradition, and historical splendor.

RAMADAN

Muslims spend a month of fasting, prayer, contemplation, and charity during Ramadan, which occurs on the ninth month of the Islamic or Lunar calendar. Offices are only open for a few hours since the Maldivian population is entirely Muslim. Resorts and hotels, on the other hand, are unaffected by the holy month. Indeed, this is one of the finest times to visit the Maldives since you may sample a variety of ethnic dishes that are only available during the festival. Many eateries include Iftar (evening meal for breaking the fast) specials on their menus. Exotic Ramadan juices are a must-try. Cultural events are also part of the festival.

EID AL-FITR OR KUDA EID

Kuda Eid is another name for Eid-ul-Fitr, which marks the conclusion of Ramadan. It falls on the first day of Shawaal (the 10th month) in the Islamic calendar. In the Maldives, Eid-ul Fitr is celebrated with considerable zeal. Maldivians spend much of the day with their families and relatives. The event begins with a morning prayer in the mosque. After that, folks go to see their friends and family and have dinner with them. People also participate in traditional celebratory games throughout the three-day festival.

EID AL-ADHA OR BODU EID

Eid al-Adha is observed on the Eid following the Hajj. Its significance stems from the significance linked with the Hajj, an annual Islamic pilgrimage to Mecca. Because of the Bodu Mas custom, Eid al-Adha is referred to as Bodu Eid on several Maldivian islands. During the Bodu Mas festival, islanders assemble and fishermen catch a large fish constructed out of palm leaves. This custom is based on an ancient legend in which a gigantic fish (Modu) and Maali (Ghosts) emerged from the sea. With the assistance of a holy man, the people were able to catch the fish after a lengthy battle. This is also why a group of individuals painted and dressed like ghosts conduct Maali neshun, a type of dance.

NATIONAL DAY

The Maldives' National Day, locally known as Qaumeedhuvas, commemorates the day when a native rebellion drove the colonial Portuguese to flee the country. The Portuguese landed in the Maldives in 1558, murdered the native ruler, and took control. However, in 1573, Muhammad Thakurufaanu and his troops recaptured Male, putting an end to Portugal's 15-year reign. The Islamic Calendar's first day of Rabeel-ul-Awwal (the third month) is observed as National Day. Across the island country, military parades, political speeches, and flag-raising rituals are held on this day.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Maldives celebrates Independence Day on July 26. The security forces put on parades as part of the celebrations. There are also performances by students from local schools. The Maldives were granted the status of British Protectorate in 1887, allowing the country to be free of foreign interference in its internal affairs. The British were in charge of foreign affairs in exchange for security. The Maldives won independence on July 26, 1965.

EXPLORING MALE'

A tropical paradise, Maldives is home to some of the most stunning beaches in the world. Azure waters, stretches of sparkling white sand, luxury resorts, thrilling water sports, and diving make it a dream holiday destination for people from all walks of life.

Maldives has something for everyone; be it local cuisine, life in the bustling capital city or culture.

VISIT FISH MARKET

Located on the northern end of Male', the Fish Market is part of the bustling marketplace. Multi-coloured fishing boats line the harbour facing the fish market, where local fishermen unload their day's catch. Locals, expatriates and visitors alike come here to buy fresh yellowfin tuna, skipjack tuna and varieties of seafood caught by sustainable fishing methods.

BUY FRESH PRODUCE

Just a block west from the Fish Market is the Local Market, where islanders sell fresh produce. One can buy seasonal fruits such as local mangoes as well as a mix of coconut, papaya, watermelon and banana. A variety of salad leaves and local vegetables as well as imported produce can also be found here.

VISIT HISTORICAL SITES

The 17th-century Hukuru Miskiy (Friday Mosque) and its minaret stand as a testament to the skills of early Maldivians. Across the road is the Medhu Ziyaaraiy, tomb of Abul Barakaath Yusuf al Barbary, a Sunni Muslim traveller responsible for introducing Islam to the archipelago. Muliaage, an old presidential palace which still functions as an official residence of the president, is just around the corner too.

TAKE A STROLL IN A PARK

The congested capital city has recently welcomed a host of new parks, mostly on the western and eastern end. The most notable of them, within easy walking distance to the tourist arrival jetty, is the historic Sultan Park. The park has been modelled according to traditional Maldivian architecture, and functions as an entertainment and heritage site.

TRY OUT LOCAL SNACKS

You might also encounter a number of roadside 'on-wheel' stalls operated by local vendors. Mostly open during the evening and through the night, these stalls are the place to be to enjoy some local sweets, savoury treats as well as fresh king coconut.

RESORTS

From the super luxury frequented by the world's travel elite to the more affordable, the resorts of the Maldives have one thing in common. Each resort boasts its very own private island and it's yours to enjoy. Private beaches, sumptuous meals, a host of activities that will certainly quench your thirst for whatever you have in mind.

Be it the thrill of diving, the excitement of watersports, exquisite spas, and amazing excursions they offer it all.

While some are focused on family holidays others may offer a higher degree of adventure and activity. Whatever resort you choose you can be assured of your freedom, peace of mind and adventure, together with the impeccable service Maldives is so well known for.

This exceptional resort is located on the island of Velavaru or Turtle Island as the local Maldivians refer to us. South Nilandhe Atoll is just North of the Equator. Great thought and consideration for our environment has gone into the design and construction of our Angsana Velavaru resort, with swaying palm trees and natural vegetation and our own Angsana Trees dotted around the island.

The stunning beach villas are only a couple of steps on the pristine coral sands to the amazing azure waters of our lagoon and our stunning In Ocean Pool Villas on the other side of the lagoon will take your breath away.
