Even if you are only looking to enjoy yoga as a complement to your vacation, our resorts offer everyday yoga for you to experience without immersing yourself completely.

Practice of Ayurveda

Ayurveda is an ancient art of healing that has started to assert itself as an effective alternative treatment for many diseases. Just like yoga, Ayurveda was born in the land of elephants, and the resorts of Maldives has gone to great lengths to procure experts in Ayurveda. Ayurveda is based on the 3 different facets of health; sleep, exercise, and diet. While some resorts offer Ayurvedic treatments as complementary services or separate packages, at other resorts, you can choose to immerse yourself in Ayurveda programs that are tailor-made to suit your particular desires. Such resorts offer Ayurveda packages from a minimum of 7 days to a maximum of 21 days. So come and luxuriate in the feeling of being pampered and healed thoroughly in your mind, body, and soul.

The most common Ayurvedic treatments available in Maldives is the Shirodhara. This constitutes of a warm herbal massage after which oil is poured over the forehead followed by a tender scalp massage. One of the most effective techniques used in Ayurvedic massage is the utilization of 2 massage therapists who work in perfect co-ordination. Thus, both Udavartana and Elakkizhi use this method to effectively dispense the treatments. While Udavartana is a massage focused on upward strokes, in conjunction with exfoliation and steaming of the body, Elakkizhi is the application of heated herbal bundles after a gentle herbal massage.

Another treatment that involves the application of bundles to the body is Navarakoli. The bundle used in Navarakoli is made out of Navara rice which is first cooked in milk, and then, in a blend of herbs. This treatment is also initiated by a warm herbal massage, followed by the application of the rice bundles. Sarvangadithra is when topical therapeutic oil is poured over the body during the course of massaging it, in order to enhance the flow of blood with the body, ease the tension between the joints, and nurture the muscles and nerves.

In addition to the deep treatment techniques mentioned above, short scale, yet, effective cures such as Nasya and Karna Poornan are also available in Maldives. Nasya focuses on cleansing the airways, and small amounts of antisepic oils are introduced into the nostrils, consequently relieving migraine headaches, sinusitis, and chronic colds. Karna Poornan on the other hand massages ears, tinnitus, and various other forms of headaches by massaging the head, neck, and shoulder, followed by filling the ear with herbal Ayurvedic oils.

A common complaint of almost every woman is the lower back pain. Kati Vasti is the utilization of Ayurvedic techniques and special herbal oils to induce strength in the lower back muscles, ligaments, and the spine, promoting lubrication of the joints and mitigating lower back pain. In addition to this, the airwaves is the treatment of the eye, one of the most strained organs in our body, by pouring sterile herbal infused ghee (clarified butter) over them. This effectively relieves tension in the eyes and rejuvenates sore eyes. Experience the miracles of holistic healing firsthand by taking part in our Ayurvedic immersion sessions, or enjoy a session of restoration in isolation by choosing one of the exclusive treatments available in Maldives. Starting as low as US$60, Ayurvedic treatments at Maldives are the most resourcesful ways to rejuvenate and restore yourself.

Special Features of the Spa in Maldives

One of the most unique features on Maldivians Spas are the fact that a lot of them are located over the water. Therefore, you can unwind and get a restorative massage while being lulled into a state of deep relaxation by the gentle sounds of the waves dancing all around you. In addition to stunning seaside views, Spas in Maldives are located in isolated and scenic spots that are connected to the main resort via charming little pathways.

With the beautiful and lush greenery available, the Spas in Maldives strive to incorporate local produce such as coconut and local flowers in their unique massages and poultries. Each resort has its own signature massage which integrates unique techniques inspired by alternative medicine techniques from all over the world. While some resorts offer legitimate Hawaiian massages, others choose to incorporate authentic Asian techniques of healing, such as Thai, Balinese, and Indian massages flavored with a local touch.
